

Our executive board met today to discuss the events that surround us and our response. I left the meeting very confident that the industry is set to handle these challenges and are working together to meet the hurdles that we face. Our members are at the heart of all of the activities that we organize. With an abundance of precaution and concern for the health and safety of the WPWPCA and its membership in response to the Corona Virus (COVID-19), we have made the difficult decision to postpone the upcoming events:

EVENT	Postponed Date	New Date
Sporting Clay Shoot	April 13, 2020	???
WesTec	April 17, 2020	September 11, 2020
Plant Tour	September 18, 2020	Next year

As the situation is evolving daily, we may have other changes to our schedule. The WPWPCA is committed to helping our members advance in their knowledge in areas of design, construction, operation, maintenance, and management of sewage and industrial waste treatment works. We hope that you, your family and your colleagues remain healthy and safe during these times.

Now more than ever your communities are relying on you to deliver clean water and sanitation and we are grateful for your talent, dedication and perseverance. We wish you the best and know that we will successfully meet this adversity!

Thank you from the entire WPWPCA community,

Regards,

Greg Leininger

President, Western Pennsylvania Water Pollution Control Association

PS- The Keystone Water Conference is being rescheduled to August 23-26 at the Penn Stater Conference Center. It was originally scheduled for May 3-6, 2020
